Here and There

Editorial By Alex. H. Washburn

EDITOR The Star: We hear so much about the revenue that I am wondering what it will benefit us. Before prohibition we had no roads, and no schools within reach of our country people. We could hardly get to town, to court, or to church in wagons or any other way.

Hope Ends Season With 9 Victories Against 3 Defeats

Hot Springs Trojans Beat Locals 33-13 on Thanksgiving Day

SEASON IS SUCCESS

Bobcats Run Up Total of 300 Points to 65 for Their Opponents

By Leonard Ellis
An aerial attack that was aided by a strong wind swept the Hope High School football team off its feet to give Hot Springs a 33 to 13 victory Thursday at Hot Springs.

It was the final game of the season for both teams and was played before a holiday crowd of nearly 5,000 fans, including a large delegation from Hope.

Four of the five Hot Springs touchdowns resulted from passes, thrown by Paul Longinotti, 1934 all-state quarterback. He threw 17 passes, nine of which were complete. They were good for four touchdowns, and 129 yards. A few minutes before the game ended Longinotti went around and for the first time.

Hope Scores in Final
Held scoreless three quarters, Hope whipped back in the final period to score twice. Bright made both touchdowns. They were the result of an assortment of plunges and passes that carried the Bobcats to within a few yards of the Hot Springs goal where Bright smacked the line to score.

An out-of-town newspaper report that Hope scored with most of the Trojans' second team in the lineup is erroneous. In fact, Hope scored without the services of its star quarterback, Cargile, who left the game in the third quarter because of injuries. It is true, however, that Longinotti was out of the lineup when Hope made its first touchdown.

Although outclassed by the superior Trojan eleven, the Bobcats put up a fight and outplayed their opponents in the first and fourth quarters. The second and third periods were decidedly in favor of Hot Springs.

Hope threatened twice in the opening quarter, marching to the 12-yard line where the Trojan line held. A few minutes later Hope recovered a fumble and again marched to the 10-yard line, but lacked the punch to score.

Hot Springs opened up in the second period with passes that resulted in two touchdowns. The Trojans mixed line play with aerial heaves by Longinotti to score twice in the third quarter. Longinotti raced around end in the final quarter for the last score. His all-round work stamped him as the outstanding player on the field.

Bright and Cargile did most of Hope's ground gaining. Both were handicapped with injuries. Cargile, being forced from the game in the third quarter with a bad ankle and injured hip. Bright had a leg injury that hampered him. However, he turned in a great game, offensively and defensively.

Installment Buying Leads All Sales

Advances 10% Over Other Sales in '34 and 25% This Year

Partly Explains Tremendous Decline in U. S. Liquor Consumption

IMPORTANT FACTOR

Admitted by Anti-Saloon League, Though Depression Is Another

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Some students of sales trends are wondering whether the American public has cut its liquor consumption because it needs money to meet installments on such things as autos and furniture.

The consumption of legal liquor is far below the "wettest" prohibition days, while installment buying of a long list of articles has increased markedly.

Treasury statistics show that in the year ended June 30, legal liquor consumption was only 45.7 per cent of the peak year, 1917. Americans drank 75,073,993 gallons in the last fiscal year, compared with 164,291,683 gallons in 1917.

Installment Buying Gains
Department of Commerce experts said that in 1934 installment buying, compared to all buying, increased 10 per cent. Scattered reports indicate the increase this year may have been as much as 25 per cent.

Although no studies have been made of the economic and social effect of such buying, one statistician said he thought some of the decline in liquor drinking might be attributed to it.

A study of the effects of installment sales on the country will be included in Department of Commerce projects starting in January. Officials hope that some "general statement" may result.

Statisticians pointed out that, without further study, it would be difficult to say definitely whether liquor drinking has been affected by the rise in installment payments.

One Factor, Says League
Anti-Saloon League officials said they believe the liquor decline might be affected by installment-buying, but they consider that the depression and the fact that Americans have "lost the habit" are important factors, too.

Leaders of the liquor trade associations said they had not studied the problem.

Harpist Is to Be Offered in Concert

Angelo Cortese Will Play at Hope City Hall at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday

The Friday Music club will present Angelo Cortese, harpist, in its annual artists' concert at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at Hope city hall.

Cortese is highly recommended as an artist of unusual charm and distinction. Born in Italy, he became a naturalized citizen at an early age.

From infancy he has made rapid strides as a musician. The local music club considers it fortunate in obtaining the performance here.

This is the first time in the history of Hope for a harpist to appear here in concert, a member of the music club said. Assisting Mr. Cortese, the Friday Choral club will offer two groups of songs.

The chorus, costumed in gowns of the 60's, made a successful appearance before a large audience in Hot Springs during the national U. D. C. convention and are repeating those numbers here at the request of many Hope citizens.

The chorus is composed of: Mesdames Fred Harrison, W. Y. Foster Jr., R. T. White, Sam Warnack.

Commercial Study Is Opened to All

Anyone Over 16 Eligible for WPA Course at 423 West Division

Mrs. Ethel Whitehurst opened a general commercial school at her residence, 423 West Division street, Friday morning with an enrollment of 23. The school will operate as a WPA project.

Any white person in the county over the age of 16 is eligible to enroll. No charges will be made. Morning and night classes will be taught.

Installment Buying Survey, Star "Hunch"

The Associated Press story in the column to the left of this item, telling of a possible relation between the growth of installment buying and the decline of whisky drinking, in America, was the result of a letter written to the Washington bureau of the A.P. on November 22 by A. H. Washburn, publisher of The Star and Associated Press correspondent for the area within a 30-mile radius of Hope.

Mr. Washburn made two requests of the A.P.: First, that it run down authentic figures on liquor consumption in America since prohibition, as compared with the old saloon days; and, second, that the A.P. interview the bankers of installment-buying systems of automobiles, radios, refrigerators, and the like, for a possible relation between the growth of these and the decline in the liquor traffic.

The figures on the liquor traffic were put on the Associated Press wires and published in The Star last Tuesday, November 26.

The comparison of installment-buying and the liquor traffic was put on the wires from the national capital this Friday. The results, of course, are inconclusive. The publisher of The Star simply had a "hunch." There appears to be some truth in it, but complete and accurate figures are nowhere available at the present time.

"Peak Passed in Federal Expense"

From Here on Government Deficit Will Decrease, President Says

ATLANTA, Ga., —(AP)—President Roosevelt said Friday the government "has passed the peak of appropriations" and can "look forward with assurance to a decreasing deficit" without new taxes.

Addressing a great throng gathered on Grant field for a Georgia homecoming celebration in his honor, he also spoke of the drive to provide work relief for 3½ million persons being near its goal.

He said $1,255,000 are already placed in jobs.

Band Excursions Planned for 1936

Rotary Club to Sponsor Monthly Visits to Surrounding Communities

A proposal by Terrell Cornelius for the Rotary club to sponsor a one-month excursion of the Hope Boys band to the smaller towns and communities of southwest Arkansas, beginning the first of the year, was approved Friday by the civic club at its noon luncheon in Hotel Barlow.

Club members will be called upon to furnish transportation for the musical organization, numbering nearly 40.

C. C. Lewis, in charge of Friday's club program, introduced George W. Robinson, Jr., who spoke briefly on topics at the University of Texas, where he is a student.

Other club guests Friday were: Douglas Bemis, of Prescott; and Max Walker, Hope.

3 More Negroes Held for Robbery

Total of 6 Picked Up as Suspects in Second-Hand Store Raid

Police Chief John W. Ridgill announced Friday the arrest of three more negroes as suspects in the $200 robbery last week of the Lee DeVaughn second-hand store. The latest arrests increased the list to six.

North Little Rock police picked up Luther Williams, LeRoy Laudermilk and Isaac Holmes. They were returned to Hope Thursday night by Officers Baker and Boarden.

Chief Ridgill said all three negroes have confessed. Some of the loot taken here was found in possession of the negroes when arrested at North Little Rock.

The negro Holmes admitted to offense Friday that he stole several pairs of shoes from Hill's Shoe store several days ago.

Those already held are Curtis Cooper, Robert Johnson and Daniel E. Jackson, all Hope negroes. All the suspects will be arraigned in municipal court next Tuesday.

Majority Against New Deal Growing in Digest's Poll

With 12 States Reporting, Roosevelt Policies Must-ter Only 44%

DECISIVE IN OHIO

In Buckeye State 65½% of Straw Balloters Oppose F. D.'s Policies

An increase is shown in the majority vote against the New Deal, registered last week in The Literary Digest's 10,000-ballot nationwide poll, as 167,000 additional returns are reported in the second tabulation of the "straw" referendum.

An analysis of the 207,087 total votes now tallied, which appears in the current issue of the magazine, shows 91,351 votes in support of Roosevelt's "acts and policies" to 115,736 opposed to them.

The poll protest against the New Deal rises in percentage from 53.28 of last week's tallying to 55.89 of the current week's tally. In 1934 a similar poll conducted by The Literary Digest practically the same list of names revealed only 38.85 per cent of the straw ballots of the entire nation opposed to the New Deal, or 61.15 per cent in favor of it.

Initial returns are reported this week from the seven States of Florida, Illinois, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio and Texas in addition to more votes from Georgia, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma, which first appeared in last week's tabulation.

Only two of the twelve States give a majority vote for the New Deal, Georgia voting over 2 to 1 and Texas over 2 to 1.

Second Report Literary Digest New Deal Poll
From The Literary Digest for November 30, 1935

State	Total Votes to Date	Vote YES in Support of Roosevelt's Policies	Vote NO Against Roosevelt's Policies
Florida	7,762	3,834—49.39%	3,928—50.61%
Georgia	12,885	8,704—67.55%	4,181—32.45%
Illinois	8,559	2,737—32.78%	5,822—67.22%
Iowa	34,520	14,571—42.17%	20,359—57.83%
Kansas	26,548	12,656—47.67%	13,892—52.33%
Minnesota	21,903	8,072—36.85%	24,830—55.57%
Missouri	44,680	19,850—44.43%	24,830—55.57%
Nebraska	5,960	2,442—40.97%	3,518—59.03%
North Dakota	4,582	1,824—39.81%	2,758—60.19%
Ohio	14,868	5,124—34.46%	9,744—65.54%
Oklahoma	14,021	6,825—48.68%	7,196—51.32%
Texas	7,598	4,702—61.88%	2,896—38.12%
Totals	207,087	91,351—44.11%	115,736—55.89%

over 3 to 2 in support of Roosevelt's policies.

All twelve of the States in the current count of the poll voted for Roosevelt in 1932.

Illinois registers the heaviest response against the New Deal with a more than 2 to 1 vote of "no" in answer to the question: "Do you approve the acts and policies of the Roosevelt 'New Deal' to date?"

The current tabulation shows a state total of 21,903 votes from Minnesota of which 65.15 per cent are against the New Deal. Missouri returns 44,680 votes thus far of which 55.57 per cent are anti New Deal.

Nearly two-thirds of the 14,868 returns reported from Ohio this week vote "no" against the New Deal. Nebraska which voted more than 3 to 2 for Roosevelt in 1932, now polls nearly a 3 to 2 majority against the New Deal.

Four of the five states from which initial returns were tallied last week, Georgia, Kansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma, show an increased vote against the New Deal, while the vote in Iowa gains fractionally for the New Deal but still shows a percentage of 58.20 against the Roosevelt policies.

The balloting in Florida so far indicates practically a stand off with a bare majority of 50.61 per cent of the state's tally scored against the New Deal.

Futrell Requests Post-Season Game

Governor Wants Title Determined by Pine Bluff and Blytheville

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Governor Futrell issued a formal request Friday for a post-season football game between Pine Bluff and Blytheville to decide the Arkansas high school championship.

Only $60,000 of the 6,000,000 farms in the United States are electrified.

State Revenue Agent Denies Political Tale in Nevada Co.

"Bad Condition in Hope" Referred to Crowded Traffic, Not Liquor Business, Declares Inspector Mitchell

Reports reaching The Star from Nevada county that State Revenue Inspector C. C. Mitchell was being quoted as saying that liquor conditions in Hope were so bad that "my wife can't go downtown Saturday afternoon" were indignantly denied Friday by Mr. Mitchell in an interview with the newspaper.

Information reaching The Star said that Dr. J. P. Atkinson, of Bodewy, Mr. Mitchell's father-in-law, was quoting the revenue man to that effect.

Mr. Mitchell flatly denied this in behalf of his father-in-law and himself. The revenue agent said:

"Neither I nor my 73-year-old father-in-law ever made such a ridiculous statement.

"It isn't true, in the first place. I ever referred to conditions of any kind in Hope was to the crowded traffic condition, when my father-in-law and I were discussing the best time to bring a load of cotton to our city.

"If Dr. Atkinson made any statement about Hope it was in connection with the heavy fatality list on the highways over the week-end—and not any statement as regards the Hope liquor business.

"My wife and I have been in the habit of doing our shopping on Saturdays, but with the crowded traffic condition in recent years we have often talked about switching over to some other day—just as hundreds of others.

"And that, positively, is all there is to it."

Last Publication Personal Tax List

Hempstead County's Delinquent Notice Appears Today for Final Time

Hempstead county today completes the second and final publication of the delinquent personal tax list in The Star.

The publication, which requires nearly 12 newspaper columns, was published for the first time Friday, November 22, and today's publication completes it.

Total cost to the delinquent taxpayers for the newspaper publication is $205.10—a total of 2,531 delinquents at 10 cents each.

The publication totaled 242 column inches, for which the newspaper received an average of 42.3 cents per inch for each insertion. The newspaper's national advertising rate is 42 cents flat. Owing to the extensive overtime charges required for prompt publication of so large a "legal" list, the net income to the newspaper, however, was considerably less than on corresponding advertising taken from factories and stores.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., —(AP)—Jesse Livermore, Jr., 15, son of the famous Wall Street operator, was probably fatally wounded early Friday. Undersheriff Jack Ross said Livermore's mother fired the shot.

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—State Comptroller Wilfrid Smith said Friday he was opposed to any proposed tax increase to provide funds for the Arkansas Centennial celebration. "I don't think any emergency other than relief to prevent intense suffering would justify additional taxes," Smith declared.

Women Members of Party to Meet

Mrs. Louis Rhoton to Speak at Hope City Hall at 3 p. m. Tuesday

Mrs. C. S. Lowthorp announced Friday that a mass meeting would be held at 3 p. m. Tuesday at Hope city hall to organize a Democratic Women's club of Hempstead county.

She urged the attendance of all Democratic women of the county.

Mrs. J. P. Bowen of Little Rock, national membership chairman, will also be a speaker.

French Pledge Aid to England; Italy May Bomb Fleet

Mussolini Threatens Swift Attack on British in Mediterranean

HAD SOUGHT DELAY

Italian Dictator Loses Out—League Committee to Decide Monday

GENEVA, Switzerland.—(AP)—A meeting of the League of Nations committee, of 18, to consider the imposition of an oil embargo against Italy, was set Friday for December 2, Monday.

France Joins Britain

PARIS, France.—(AP)—Great Britain was reported by "informed" sources Friday to have achieved its long-sought assurance of French support in case of an Italian attack on the British fleet in the Mediterranean.

It was stated that Premier Laval, who previously delayed League of Nations action on the proposal of an oil embargo against Italy, had given in to the British demand for action on this subject—thereby wrecking Italian hopes for further delay.

"War," Says Italy

ROME, Italy.—(Copyright Associated Press)—A new European Nations project for an oil embargo against Italy, with responsible sources asserting that Premier Mussolini evolved a counter program, including a swift thrust at the British fleet.

The responsible persons, not officials, but holding high connections, said a "fresh conflict—perhaps another World War—would result if the League applied the oil embargo in addition to its present sanctions, cut short Italian warfare in Ethiopia.

Italians Destroy Port

ROME, Italy.—(AP)—Two Italian squadrons wrought destruction on Doggar Bur, official Italian dispatches said Friday, leveling this important fortress lying between Italy's southern armies and their major objectives of Jijiga and Harar.

Copyright Associated Press

ROME, Italy.—Responsible persons with high connections said Thursday night a war that might be world war would be certain to result if the League of Nations places an oil embargo upon Italy.

These persons were not officials. They said Premier Mussolini, at a midnight session of the Fascist Grand Council November 18, adopted this three-point program to be used if an embargo is applied:

1. Italy would withdraw her ambassadors and ministers from all "enemy" countries (those applying the oil sanctions).

2. Italy would quit the League of Nations.

3. Italy's "Death Squad" air force of the navy would strike immediately at the British fleet in the Mediterranean. This is reported to be a force of 125 pilots pledged to go to certain death. Each would carry one huge bomb in his plane, pick out an enemy warship and dive upon the vessel. It would be a sudden, desperate war in an attempt to break through the ring of 52 besieging nations, these sources said.

France, Britain Notified

This determination was said to have been given by Premier Mussolini to Sir Eric Drummond, the British ambassador, here last Saturday, and through the Italian ambassador to Premier Laval of France and Sir Samuel Hoare, British foreign secretary, on Monday and Tuesday.

It was knowledge of this program, these sources continued, that caused postponement of a meeting of a League of Nations committee scheduled for Friday to consider an oil embargo.

A government spokesman, interpreting the phrase oil means war, said war might not be immediate but oil would be "another step which might eventually lead to European hostilities." Beyond that officials do not go.

The Truth About Diet

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Body Requires Meat as Food

This is the first of a series of articles by Dr. Morris Fishben exposing the fallacies of various food fads.

One of the earliest American dietetic fads was the system known as Fletcherism. It was developed by Horace Fletcher early in the 19th century. Fletcher believed that the way to secure health from food was to chew the food until it developed into a liquid consistency. To bring this about, an actual ritual of chewing was developed, and whole families could be seen seated at breakfast in the morning carefully counting each movement of the jaws to make certain that the number agreed with what Fletcher thought was correct.

Obviously, there was no scientific basis for any such performance and Fletcherism soon passed into the limbo of forgotten dietetic fallacies.

About the same time, vegetarianism began to develop as a cult, although of course from the very earliest times there had been many human beings who had insisted that the eating of flesh was harmful and that human beings ought to abstain from meat.

It is interesting to recall that practically every religious belief has associated with it certain notions relating to the eating of food. Thus one religion would avoid meat on certain days of the week, another would avoid entirely the meat of pigs, and the Hindu would abstain from the meat of the Sacred Cow.

Such avoidance of meat, of course, is entirely without scientific foundation. The human stomach knows nothing of religion, or belief, and will try to digest any food that is put into it any time that the food comes down.

Sometimes the adoption of vegetarianism is simply a desire on the part of the person concerned to be different from everybody else, and in that way to acquire a feeling of superiority. On the other hand, there are those who attack the eating of meat because they claim it is full of germs, that it is not properly cleaned, and that it is dangerous to health.

They say the end result of its digestion is a lot of poisonous products. Actually meat nowadays is carefully inspected by government authorities. It is thoroughly cooked before use, thus destroying dangerous germs in the vast majority of cases, and when digested yields products which are for the most part useful in the human body.

Moreover, it has been found that certain types of meat have special values for health and ought to be eaten at fairly regular intervals as valuable balancers for the body.

A Book a Day
By Bruce Catton

It is one of the ironies of modern history that the whole world should have gone to war over a semi-civilized country which used assassinations and bombs as regular instruments of government.

There is an interesting glimpse at that background in "Royal Purple," a novel by Zertita Harding. The book tells about the turbulent politics of Serbia at the beginning of the twentieth century, when the terrorism and blind, reckless nationalism which finally lit the fuse at Sarajevo were just getting their growth.

The plot is built about the rivalry between the two dynasties which contended for the crown of Serbia, the Obrenovich and Karaorgje clans.

The former had come out on top and had given Serbia a king, Alexander, who seemed to have been about as reckless and senseless a monarch as a country ever had. To make matters worse, Alexander married a peasant girl and made her queen.

To army officers banded together in a Black Hand society to remove this royal pair and put Peter Karaorgje on the throne.

The novel is a masterpiece of plotting and characterization. It is a story of intrigue, of power, of ambition, and of the struggle for survival in a world of chaos.

It is a story of the rise and fall of a dynasty, and of the role of the individual in the face of overwhelming forces. It is a story of the human condition in a world of war and conflict.

It is a story of the human spirit, of the human will, and of the human capacity for greatness. It is a story of the human race, and of the human future.

It is a story of the human soul, of the human heart, and of the human mind. It is a story of the human experience, and of the human journey.

It is a story of the human condition, of the human struggle, and of the human quest. It is a story of the human race, and of the human future.

On the Throne

The novel is principally the story of their conspiracy. They wound up by storming the palace and butchering Alexander and Draga, the queen. Peter became king, and the Black Handers—a gang of super-patriotic, ruthless—went ahead with their conspiring until they killed Franz Ferdinand in 1914 and sent the world to war.

"Royal Purple" is an interesting account of Serbia in the days when this bloody business was being born. Bobbs-Merrill is publishing it at $2.50.

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

A writer said recently that "self government and control were taking the place of old-fashioned protection of children." And I agree with her up to a point. That point is that we are TRYING to make it take the place of protection, because we must; but the end is not yet.

Nothing comes over night. No social change, that is. Everything is done for a reason. With the advent of the motor car and its wake of new-type entertainments, the old-style supervision was about as useful as an umbrella in a typhoon. In truth, however, after centuries of little social change, one might say that this new did come overnight, finding parents unprepared—and still dazed and unprepared—scarcely knowing what to do next.

As it happens, I like young folk. Nothing is fiercer or lovelier than the budding girl. No one is grander than the boy in his teens. I am not a suspicious busybody who puts her glasses on wrong side front and sees the worst. Actually there is too much talk about the goings on of young people.

Hazards on Increase
However, there is this about it: no matter how fine they are the hazards of social life seem to increase rather than diminish. It isn't that parents don't trust their children so much as they fear for them. "Oh, mother, everyone does it. Everyone goes there." And mother says "Yes" just because she does trust her child.

But what is ahead? What is the limit someday when "everyone does it" and everyone goes there? She permits a dozen things now that she would not have dreamed of permitting half a dozen years ago. Yes, she has trained her boy and girl in honor and self-government, but youth has one weakness beside impulsiveness—a tendency to be led. To follow the lead—

So it seems wise to help out this self-control business with something else. Something as old-fashioned as the hoop-skirt-convention.

Opinion Is Final Arbitrator
And convention means nothing more or less than the opinion of other people. A good name depends on it entirely. It is not what one does but what people think one does that makes reputation. To be at the wrong place with the wrong person, innocent as all may be, may spoil a whole life. A whisper, a rumor, a chorus. It isn't fair but it is so. Tell them about it. Tell them not even to look wrong.

Unfortunately the boy is less easily smothered than the girl. To warn him of convention may not bear too much weight, but even he has to look out. What will he think when mothers of nice girls prohibit him the house? How will he feel when nice people leave him out?

As for the girl, she should be told that "everyone" does not see eye to eye with that careless jolly crowd of hers. That she cannot be entirely independent of old Madam Grundy's tongue. She may as well learn young that convention still rules reputation.

Glorifying Yourself
By Alicia Hart

Those who intend to give cosmetics and beauty preparations for Christmas should begin right now to find out not only what's new and exciting in the shops but exactly which items will best suit the recipients. To give extra heavy, rich nourishing cream to one under twenty is just as ridiculous as it is to send gardenia perfume to a woman who simply can't bear any odor stronger than lavender toilet water.

Unless you know exactly the shade of powder, rouge and lipstick she uses, don't send makeup. Steer clear of exotic lotions, preparations to correct special skin and scalp conditions. Instead, look over the display of rather general beauty items that any woman would use and love regardless of her age and type of skin. Bath oils and bath salts, both the old types with which you're quite familiar and the new powdered varieties, are safe bets. However, don't give pine oil to a frilly feminine little thing. Save it for the self-sufficient and out-of-doors women on your list. Soap, especially huge bath size cakes, bath powder and body lotion in matching colors, toilet water and cologne are other suggestions in the general category. However, if she likes only a plain castle soap, a box of heavily scented cakes won't make her very appreciative of your thoughtfulness.

Unless you can afford to get a handsome one with patented top which prevents evaporation, don't send an atomizer. If you're considering comb and brush sets or manicure tools to go on her dresser, better find out the color of her room before you buy.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
After the death of her parents, lovely DANA WILSON, the child of her mother's second marriage, comes to America to live with her grandmother, MRS. WILLIAM CANNON.

Dana's half-sister, NANCY WILSON, feels bitter toward her.

Mrs. Cannon decides to introduce Dana to the social set at a party. Dana, radiant and beautiful, will become seriously interested.

Dana, meanwhile, has met and become attracted to young BILL SCOTT STANLEY, who is poor. Nancy, who makes her love for Dana behind an antagonistic attitude, dresses up for the party. Her happiness fades when she sees Dana, radiant and beautiful, in a new dress.

Dana, alone on the porch while Ronnie goes to bring her a glass of punch, hears a whistle from the garden. She goes there and finds Scott Stanley.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IX
SCOTT eyed the girl intently. "I keep telling myself," he said "that first impressions aren't reliable, that you couldn't be as wonderful as you seemed. I had to find out."

Dana answered coolly. "When you've finished your inventory I think I'd better go back to the house."

He ignored this. "It's probably the moonlight playing tricks," he went on. "Or that dress you're wearing. Even a plain girl would seem beautiful in that dress. Any how I don't dare trust my judgment. I'll have to see you again—soon."

Dana was amused. "And how many times," she asked, "will you need to see me before you make up your mind?"

"I might suggest most of your evenings—a lot of your afternoons every Sunday. Or I might ask for all your today and tomorrow."

Dana's heart quickened to something in his voice. "Are you trying to make me believe you are in love with me?"

"No," Scott said slowly. "Not yet."

Abruptly he arose from the bench and pulled her into his arms. Their steps fell together easily, rhythmically. "Do you know that tune—'Living in the Middle of the Moonlight'?" he asked.

"But you haven't ever danced in the middle of it before?"

"No."

"You haven't danced like this before?" Scott urged, drawing her closer.

Dana broke from his arms. "Good night," she said. "I don't know what I'm thinking of—"

She heard his laugh. As she neared the porch he heard him whispering softly. The sound stopped abruptly and Dana realized he had jumped over the garden wall.

She hoped her grandmother hadn't noticed her absence from the ballroom. With all that crowd dancing it wasn't likely.

BUT Dana was wrong. A short time before Mrs. Cannon had motioned to Nancy. "Dana's not on the floor," Mrs. Cannon said in a low voice. "Find her. In my day, 'twasn't considered proper to desert guests and sit out in dark corners with young men."

"Here comes my perennial partner," Nancy said. "Amuse Tommy for me and I'll see if I can lure Dana into the light."

She went into the hall. There was another door leading to the side veranda and this way she would avoid the curious-eyed and also the danger of having someone, like Tommy, tag on.

Nancy suspected Dana was sitting up with Ronnie, and had no pleasure in his mission. "Just like Grandma to pick me for a job like this," Nancy thought gloomily.

Washington

Local people attending the funeral of Norvel Kelly's father in Delight last Thursday were: Mrs. C. C. Stunt, Miss Kathryn Holt, Mrs. Luther Smith, Mrs. Lee Holt, Mrs. Reginald Bear-den, and a large number of students of the Washington High School including all members of the senior class.

Quite a number of friends of the family attended the funeral of the late Mrs. J. M. Hyatt in Ozan last Sunday.

Mrs. Bell Norwood of Route 2, who has been critically ill since last Saturday, is now reported as being somewhat improved.

Lady Took Cardui Says Pain Stopped

Many women who have taken Cardui have reported just such results as Mrs. Dow Parker (of Farmington, Mo.) describes below.

"I was weak and tired and did not feel like doing anything," she writes. "I had cramping spells. At times, I would be very nervous. The pain was mostly in my back and sides. I would just complain and not feel good. I heard several ladies speak of Cardui and my mother had taken it. I decided to try it. I took several bottles of Cardui. It helped the nervousness and the pain stopped. I felt just fine. I gained in weight and strength. Of course, if Cardui does not benefit YOU, consult a physician."

So Many Hearts Are Brave

So many hearts are brave. Each day I see the lifted banners of their courage shine. Out of the myriad eyes that look in mine; The banners mankind carry as they march To prove that they are undefeated still. Tho' tired feet must often drag behind; Tho' there be scarcely strength to climb the hill. Brave women and brave men, who go their way Without the blare of music down the street; Without the cheers, or the encouragement Of words that would be heartening and sweet. So many have the courage to go on Undaunted by their loss, or pain, or fear; Beaten perhaps, yet holding in their souls The beautiful bright quality of cheer. So many hearts are brave—no well they know How rough the road is that their feet must go. Selected, and repeated by request

"The Dust Bowl" Comes Back in '35

Grass Is Green, Cattle Are Fat, and Prices Are High Once More

AMARILLO, Texas.—(P)—It's green again in the "dust bowl."

The gauze muzzles that adorned many faces are a memory, folks hope. Cattle are fat and prices are high; pastures may be even better than normal, with gamma and buffalo grasses seeding out at heights of four to 10 inches, and cotton prospects are partially making up for losses in wheat.

The swirling "dusters" blotted out the sun, stopped trains, buried some orchards and destroyed wheat crops on thousands of acres in Texas, Colorado, Oklahoma and Kansas counties last spring. Farmers in this area, dubbed the "dust bowl," harvested fewer than 4,000,000 bushels of wheat in an area normally producing more than 30,000,000.

Now the district is making its comeback in cotton and cattle. Undaunted by their experiences and inspired by high prices, farmers of the dust area probably will plant a slightly larger wheat acreage. With about 60 per cent of the seed in the ground, planting was awaiting additional moisture. Early-planted grain, aided by late summer rains, showed a good stand.

The Texas Panhandle generally appears to have moved toward recovery more quickly than the wind-stricken areas of western Oklahoma, eastern Colorado and western Kansas.

9 Arkansans to Go to 4-H Congress

3 Boys and 6 Girls Leave Little Rock Friday for Chicago

LITTLE ROCK.—Nine state winners in Arkansas 4-H Club competition during the past year will leave Friday for Chicago to attend the National Livestock Show and the 4-H Club Congress, which will be held next week, W. J. Jernigan, state 4-H Club agent of the Agricultural Extension Service, announced Thursday.

Three boys will go as delegates to the congress because of their outstanding records. They are: Ray Elmore of Jacksonville, Putaski county, state champion in hog breeding.

Albert Doss of the Cherry Valley 4-H Club, Cross county, state cotton production champion.

Earl Harris of Osceola, Mississippi county, state cotton production champion.

Six Arkansas girls will take part in national contests.

Miss Anna Compton of Nashville, Howard county, and Miss Omega White of Hazen, Prairie county, will form a judging team for canned goods. Each won numerous honors in food preservation work before serving on the state team.

Miss Sybil Shipley of the Hindsville 4-H Club, Madison county, who is state winner of the 4-H Club style revue, will enter and model a street ensemble in the national contest.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

Text: Ezra 7:1-10; 8:21-23, 31, 32. The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for December 1

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance

Nearly 80 years had passed since the Jewish exiles to Babylon had returned to Jerusalem with courage and hope in their hearts to rebuild their national life and to establish again the religious capital with the temple as its center.

Opposition and discouragement had met the project almost from the beginning. Fifteen years had elapsed before any real effort had been made to rebuild the temple. Then, under the urgent appeals of Haggai, the people who had been more concerned about building for themselves had made an effort, but without great success.

Intermarriage with surrounding peoples had done much to break down the integrity of the national and religious consciousness, and a general laxity of life and morals had resulted, in striking contrast to the idealism and pure passion manifest in the prophetic writings of the period of the exile.

It was at this low point in the life of the Jewish colony that a great reformer appeared. Ezra, a priest and a scribe well versed in the law of Moses, came up from Babylon with a company of people who were apparently inspired with the reforming zeal and the purpose to build that moved Ezra himself and that had been manifest in the early days of the former return from the exile.

Ezra began by basing his work of reform and leadership upon all that was noblest in the past. In the life of practically every nation are buried ideal purposes and noble expressions of popular hope. In building for the future often all that is needed is to recover and re-express these ideals of the past.

It is true in our American life today as it was true in this little colony in Judea. A pure idealism of democracy and liberty is imbedded in our Constitution, institutions and statutes that we are in danger of forgetting or of permitting to be set aside by seditious pleading and special interests.

Ezra led his people back to the law and ordinances. He initiated his reforming enterprise by a great fast, assembling the Jews at the river Ahava to start their expedition. There were about 1750 people in the caravan that left Babylon for this work of leadership and reconstruction in Jerusalem.

What is the value of a great day of fasting such as Ezra proclaimed? Whether or not there be any inherent merit in fasting itself, it was a symbolic and effective method of emphasizing discipline and consecration in the acceptance of a great task.

Ezra was effective in his mission. He lifted Jerusalem and its people from chaos and corruption, and he initiated a new era of interest in righteousness, prosperity and peace. He stands as a later Moses who revived the value and meaning of law, but who just put into the observance of law idealism and character.

Body of Divorcee Is Found in Ravine

Found Murdered Shortly After Capture of Ex-Husband for Abduction

TWIN FALLS, Idaho.—(P)—The body of a pretty, 22-year-old Mildred Hook, who was abducted last Saturday by her divorced husband, Douglas VanVlack, was found by searchers in a ravine Friday.

Her head had been crushed. She dropped from sight shortly before possees captured VanVlack as he lay in a roadside ditch after an exchange of shots with officers in which one man was killed and another wounded.

Much of China's wealth is held by women. It comes to them through dowries and inheritances. Federal tabulation puts cost of the depression at $6 billion dollars.

Now 'Southwest's Richest Girl'

She, of her foster father's oil properties for $46,000,000, nearly quadruples the fortune of 15-year-old Mildred Young, above, and gives her the title "richest girl in the southwest." But she remains as demure and unassuming as the oil man—the late M. F. Young, of Beaumont, Tex.—who adopted her when she was a 6-month-old baby. Her swimming, horses, and school work are occupying more of Mildred's attention these days than the increase in her estate from $3,200,000 to $11,000,000.
